RE VIEW WITH GINI RAGAN

At the May General Meeting a proposed by-law change was voted on and defeated. There was a lively discussion prior to the vote. Everyone had the opportunity to express their opinion and most did. Everyone was courteous to their fellow members, listening to their opinions and hopefully weighing that opinion when it was time to vote. When the vote was cast, it was agreed by all that though we don't always agree with our friends opinions in the end we are still friends and that is the most important part of the decision making. Having been a member for more than 20 years, one of the things I have observed is that membership in the KCR and Midwest Div. of SCCA almost guarantees you a friend.

If you have problems with your car at a race or solo, someone will be there to help you fix it even offering parts should you need them. When there is a shortage of volunteers usually someone steps in to offer a hand and our events happen just like we planned them. If an accident occurs and a member needs help getting stuff back home, there is always someone willing to help and if a death affects one member of club, the rest of the members are there to support them.

In the same fashion, our members are there to cheer each other on to victory and to offer congratulations when that victory comes. We celebrate birthdays, graduations, wedding anniversaries and other special occasions with each other.

My opinion is that the KANSAS CITY REGION is a great organization to belong to and I hope you feel that way about our club, too.

Until the next time

Another PDX Experience

The night before the PDX School, I dreamed I had been driven off the road by a race driver and went over a cliff. I was told with a smirk "That didn't happen at Topeka, there isn't a cliff. Are you going to chicken out?" I began to wonder why I had opened my big mouth and responded to the challenge of: "Another speeding ticket, you need to take it to the race track."

Saturday morning found seven of us in the tech building with real racers, our instructors. (Obviously I wasn't aware of the dress code and came unprepared with no car names on anything.) We went over the day's schedule and listened to a list of rules about lines and flags. My take was that the guy in the car with you must understand the lines, I didn't. If you see a white flag, wave, any other flag, slow down and ask your instructor. We had to report to the false grid. OK, I did have to ask where and what that was, but wisely I waited until after the meeting.

As we sat on the grid, I had to put the helmet on. Yes I know I need a helmet, but that didn't prepare me for the totally claustrophobic feel of one. Fortunately I had no time to worry about this as we were all waved on to the track. My idea of racing has always been that you just drive as fast as you can all of the time. I had 6 forward gears and I was sure I should use all of them. After a turn or two my instructor starting talking about lines, apexes, keeping your hands in the same position on the wheel, and maybe not using all of those gears. He didn't jump from the car and run after the first session. Perhaps he should have as I had thrown us back and forth in the car, braked wrong for every turn and in general scared myself. He bravely suggested that he might drive a lap or two next session so I would get the basic idea of how you should drive the track.

It worked. What a difference! I actually started to understand some of what he had been saying. Restricting me to two gears, the second track time was wonderful. I actually got so I could go through the first two turns and the 8th one. I finally understood the concept of a line and apex, and he actually told me to accelerate more. This as I was going around a turn at what I was sure was way too fast!

By the third track time, I couldn't wait. What a blast. No wonder people loved this sport. You had to concentrate and think all of the time. How do they do this with 20 other cars on the track, trying to beat them to the corners, I don't know. Did I ever get all of the turns right, no, but at least I knew when I had messed up. Then just as I was getting most of them right some man kept waving a checked flag. My instructor mentioned that did mean I had to stop. Would I do this again? Definitely yes! Thanks David Bennett for not giving up on me.

YAKETY YAK

Dear Mom:

Congratulations to Mike Farley and Linda Anneberg who became Mr. and Mrs. on April 10th, 2010. They were married at St. Michaels Church at 67th & Nall and spent their honeymoon in Estes Park where they were seen on snow shoes. Linda is an elementary school PE teacher in the Shawnee Mission School District. Mike and Linda will reside in Olathe, Kansas.

Danielle Henson can be seen around town driving her new "wheels". She now has a silver Slug Bug and it has a sunroof. The flowers in the vase are a pink (her favorite color) Gerber daisy and also a sunflower.

Some people will go to extremes to keep from going to solo school!! Barbara Correll had surgery on Friday before the solo school on May 22nd, which she planned on entering. She had her left middle toe (which was curling under) operated on. The Doctor removed the first joint and loosened the second joint, then put a hollow screw down the middle of that toe with a wire inside the screw. The toe next to the middle toe is deformed but should straighten itself now. Barbara was confined to bed for 3 days but is out and about now. She will wear a boot for 6 weeks before they remove the wire.

Charlie Peters, son of Hans and Susan, is a seventh-grader at The Ascension Catholic School in Overland Park, Kansas. On Stewardship Day, April 14th, Charlie and 3 other students of the school visited the Kansas City Rescue Mission in Kansas City, MO. They helped prepare meals, cleaned the dining area and the chapel and picked up trash in the parking lot.

Ellen Wolf and Victor LaViola are grandparents again. On April 8th, 2010 Ella Christine Wolf made her grand arrival. She weighed 8lb 9oz, was 21¾" long and has dark hair and hazel eyes. She was born in Phoenix, AZ to Jason & Liz Wolf and has a big brother, Jack who is 2½ years old. Ellen spent several weeks in Phoenix welcoming the new baby and "spoiling" Jack.

Nichole Smith, former KCR member, graduated Saturday, May 15^h from The Kansas City Art Institute with a BFA in graphic design. On Sunday her parents, Dale and Deana hosted an open house at their home in Baldwin, KS. Several KCR members attended and enjoyed a very nice time.
